Why young ladies ages 13-19

There are several reasons why we chose to work with young women. One reason is because we can relate to them, each one of us can identify with some of their stresses, worries, and concerns about life and education. Another reason that we want to work with young women is because of our ages, we believe that because we are not much older than our target population the young women will feel comfortable opening up to us. Ultimately we want to help young women empower themselves, we have been blessed which means it is our duty to bless others, by providing services through Girls II Women. We would like to help young ladies become responsible and self-sufficient, using God and education as their most powerful tool.

My name is Latasha Robertson-Crump and I am 24 years of age. I was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan. I graduated from Kuyper College in 2012. I currently attend Grand Valley State University, where I am in the masters of social work program and I will graduate April 2015. I am a very compassionate person that loves challenges and helping others. I always believe that when you put God first everything else will fall into place.

(Founder/President)

My name is Amanda Rostic and I am a 26 year old college graduate. During my undergraduate career I attended Grand Valley State University where I obtained my Bachelor degree in Biology with a minor in Chemistry. I will be applying to the Grand Valley State University Public Health Masters program this fall. My goal is to assist and educate others using science as a tool. I firmly believe that anything is possible if you are willing to work hard.

For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord," plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future. Then you will call upon me, and I will listen to you. You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart (Jeremiah 29: 11-13 NIV84).
